YALE SCHOOLS.

Tuition Paid by Foreign Pupils During the Past Three Years.

Foreign pupils are taking an increased interest in Yale's excellent schools, and many are now inquiring for rates of tuition and boarding places for the ensuing year.

These pupils are usually good students and add to the interest taken in class work, and so long as their numbers do not interfere with the work of resident pupils their attendance becomes a benefit to the school.

Attendance and interest in this respect has greatly increased under the present superintendence as is shown by the following amounts paid by these non-resident pupils:

1892—Thorp, Principal.....	$ 49 38
1893—Black, ".....	170 00
1894—Black, ".....	209 67

Pupils of this class are not admitted so as to deprive resident pupils of seats.

Much difficulty is experienced in securing boarding places and rooms, and complaint is made that the rates for these accommodations is too high.

It is the universal practice to make a special rate for the benefit of teachers and pupils, and it is to be hoped that our people will be as liberal in this respect as circumstances will permit.

Failed in One Study.

A dispatch from Washington says:

For three years the United States Government has been boarding Cadet Vincent, of Port Huron, and defraying the expense of his education at West Point. Recently he fell below the required standard in just one study, which is said not to be a very important one to the profession of arms.

Three weeks ago he was in consequence dismissed from the academy. Senator McMillan thought that the expense already incurred in his education should not be lost to the Government, and at Congressman Whiting's request asked that he be given another chance.

Dan Lamont took a favorable view of the case and asked the academy board to reconsider their action in ordering his dismissal. The board, however, now refuse to consider the matter or to give the cadet another chance, and he will accordingly return home.

Teachers' Institute.

The teachers' institute will be held in the High School building, Port Huron, opening July 23rd and closing August 1st, the day before the teachers' regular examination.

As the institute will have the same instructors as the summer school, we have every reason to believe that it will rank with the best in the state. We all know that Prof. J. H. Beazell will do all in his power to make it a success, and you will find that he has a most able assistant in Prof. T. W. Arbury, Supt. of Battle Creek schools. An able and more thoroughly educated than Prof. Arbury would indeed be hard to find; and we have Supt. Pattengill's word for it that Mrs. Cora D. Martin will not be found wanting.

We expect every teacher who is interested in his profession to be present the full time the institute will be in session—eight days. Of course the uninterested will be found absent. We shall have a list of those present published. It will also be placed on the records of this office for future reference.

No pains have been spared to make this institute a success. It is in the interest of all teachers, and it is to be hoped that no excuse can be found by any teacher for non-attendance. Of course this applies as well to all those who are preparing to teach. The only expense will be for board, and this will be found reasonable. Should any require assistance in securing a desirable boarding place they may be accommodated by applying to Resolutions of Condolence.

We, the members of Yale Tent, No. 86, K. O. T. M., Yale, Michigan, feeling the deepest regret in the death of our brother, Sir Knight Stephen Beadle, it becomes our manifold duty to offer words of sympathy and condolence to the members of the bereaved family.

Be it therefore resolved that by the death of our brother, Sir Knight Stephen Beadle, we have lost a dear brother, the family a good husband and kind father and the community a good citizen.

Resolved, That Yale Tent, No. 86, K. O. T. M., in deepest sorrow, extend their most sincere sympathy to the members of his afflicted family, and that the charter of our Tent be draped in mourning in token of our sorrow.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on the records of the Tent, and that a copy be sent to his family, also a copy sent to the Michigan Maccabee and YALE EXPOSITOR for publication. Yale, July 19th, 1894.

THE ARMY WORM.

It Has Made Its Appearance in Speaker.

Every Farmer Should Read This.

Last Sunday J. B. Stevens was up to Wm. Grimes' farm in Speaker, where the subject was brought up about a new worm that had made its appearance and was destroying the hay, cutting it off about two thirds of the way up. The worm is about one and a half inches long, dark spotted and very lively. It lies on the ground during the day and climbs up in the night and eats. Mr. Stevens collected a few of the worms and sent them to Lansing last Monday morning with a letter explaining how they worked. The following reply explains everything thoroughly and should anyone else find traces of the worms it would be well to report it at this office so that should the worms become too numerous a more systematic fight could be made against them:

Michigan Agricultural College, July 18, 1894.

Dr. J. B. Stevens, Yale, Mich.

Dear Sir: Yours of the 16th inst., with sample of worms, received last night. The specimens sent are the much dreaded army worm, Leucania unipuncta, and if they are abundant or widely spread in your vicinity the farmers should be prepared for serious work in protecting other crops. As soon as the grass in a meadow is exhausted they are likely to "march" into and over adjoining fields, and may destroy wheat, oats, corn or other grain. The specimens sent are nearly full-grown and it probably is too late to make any use of poison by spraying. If the worms show no tendency to spread or "march," but become well fed on the fields where they now are, it will be sufficient to let them alone, as they will soon disappear, and in the fall the grass on those fields should be thoroughly burnt in order to destroy pupae, eggs, or worms which otherwise would winter.

If the worms begin to "march" the best way to stop them is by plowing a deep furrow around the field with the perpendicular side of the furrow away from the worms, then they can crawl down into the ditch but cannot get up the other side. Sprinkle kerosene on them in the ditch and set it on fire if there is no danger of the fire spreading. If too dry to use fire, kill with gasoline or boiling water. If favorable places straw can be spread in front of the worms and lighted after they get well on to it.

Let us know whether they become very bad or not. Complaints of army worms have come from Osego and Montmorency counties within the past week and Mr. Davis entomologist of the ext. station has gone up there to fight them. Respectfully,

Walter B. Barrows.

P. S.—Instead of plowing a ditch, it is easier some times to set boards on edge before the worms, sloping the boards a little towards the worms and putting tar along the top edge of the boards. Then the worms can be killed by gasoline or by crushing, and the boards shifted to other places when needed. W. B. B.
